

Richard Lavigne – Bio

Founder / PMP / Owner-Specialist
LYNX Business Management Group Inc.

Richard is a manufacturing-based business leader, developer, and manager with over four decades of cross-functional industry experience. Richard's focus has been within the Aerospace industry (integrated landing gear systems, composite fuselage & flight control structures, engine turbo fan shafts, rotor aircraft masts & shafts), the nuclear reactor precision manufactured component industry, and automotive e-motor systems sectors.

During his career with major Tier 1 and O.E.M. manufacturers; Richard has held various senior and leadership management positions in production, manufacturing, systems integration, program/project management, research & development, and major development program environments.

In 2016, Richard has owned and operated Lynx Business and Program Management Solutions providing manufacturing clientele with business assessment, strategic incremental business growth recommendation and planning, a working knowledge of program/project management success practices, and supply-chain management expertise. Evolving from that successful business, Richard has launched a partnership and consortium of industry experts in May of 2021 under the banner of the LYNX Business Management Group Inc. (LBMG).

It has been proven time and again that a solid and well-formed foundation makes a well-built structure & Organization. This applies to virtually everything we do in business and LBMG is here to help industries grow and prosper through utilization of our expertise and management services.
